

ARE YOU GETTING WHAT YOU PAID FOR?

You're about to hear Faure's Requiem at Carnegie Hall, produced by a company called DCINY. But where's the orchestra? Last time DCINY produced the Requiem, there were 50 of us in the orchestra. Today, you're only going to hear three instrumentalists (!). What happened to the full orchestra? Are you getting what you paid for?

WE ARE THE DCINY ORCHESTRA MUSICIANS

- We are ready and willing to perform for you today! But DCINY has refused to hire us.
 - In 2019, we voted to unionize, with 89% of musicians voting YES.
 - Now, after having employed us for over 10 years, DCINY is retaliating against musicians by not hiring us for this concert.
 - They also told us that they have no plans to hire us for any of their upcoming concerts, depriving future audiences of the rich sound of a full orchestra.

Use the QR code below to sign our petition to tell DCINY to hire us for future concerts and to negotiate with us towards a fair contract!
